FOOTPRINT

We go to market through a network of company-owned truck centers and authorized distributors across North America. Our network has strong relationships with local and regional commercial truck dealerships, fleet management companies and end users. We also partner with major OEMs like Ford, GM and RAM to provide our customers access to chassis pool, ship-thru and freight re-entry programs.

MARKETS & CUSTOMERS

Reading Truck serves customers in a variety of key industries. End users of a Reading truck can range from a local electrician to one of the nation's largest telecommunications providers. Small- and medium-sized businesses like contractors and national corporations with large fleets trust Reading Truck to provide reliable truck bodies and end-to-end services.

HISTORY OF INNOVATION

We've always led the industry with innovation. After all, we were the first to offer an aluminum body as a standard product and the first to combine an e-coat primer and powder coat finish to enhance corrosion protection. We boosted security for our customers by being the first to develop a truck body with remote keyless entry. Our innovative spirit remains strong as we build truck bodies featuring extra strong double-panel doors, internal hinges that can be easily adjusted and replaced, and Master-Locking to better protect valuables.

We remain on the cutting edge of what's important now and in the future as we continue research and development into:

Electric & Alternative Fuel Vehicles

Truck Idling Mitigation

Durability & Fatigue Life Simulations
